THE WEATHER YESTERDAY.

The following is the record of the temperature during the past twenty-four hours, as indicated by

AMUSEMENTS.

MRS. PROSSER'S READINGS.—That well-set little bijou, half theatre and half lecture room, the theatre of the Union League Club, was tolerably well filed last evening—the occasion being a rendition of selections from Shakspeare by Mrs. Prosser. The programme consisted of the second scene of the first act of "Hamlet," in which occurs the sollinguy; scene first and second of the third act, including Hamlet's interview with his mother; Pimprecation sur Rome from Corneille's "Horaces," and Shak-speare's "Taming the Shraw" contacts. "Taming the Shrew," condensed into three densation. Mrs. Prosser, as a reader, is ex-actly what would be termed an excellent densation. Mrs. Prosser, as a reader, is exactly what would be termed an excellent elocutionist in the exact conventional sense of that term—that is, her reading is painfully wanting in naturalness, both as regards the infections of the voice and as regards facial expression. Whether this is to be interpreted as censure or praise, however, depends upon one's notions of effective elocution. If by good elocution be meant an over-doing of nature in high-tragedy buskins, Mrs. Prosser's elocution is exactly what it should be and errs in no respect; but if, on the other hand, there be more tragedy in real life, with its quiet spontanicty of feeling, than in any assumed intonations and graces, then Mrs. Prosser's elocution is somewhat in error—in error, in fact, to the extent that it counterfeits, though it may be, and is, magnificent in those occasional passages in which the reader seemingly forgets that she is reading. The only question at issue is whether the elocutionist shall represent nature simply or whether he or she shall act nature—be nature for the time beling, disrobed of all conventionalism. Mrs. Prosser's rendering of the soliloquy, if the latter be the true theory, was considerably at fault. In a certain conventional sense she declaimed the piece remarkably well; but there was none of the quiet, puzzled, bewildered pathos of the original soliloquy in the vehement, declamatory outbursts of Mrs. Prosser's rendering.
Brilliant it may have been (and was) as an edort of voice; but the poor, dazed, bewildered Hamlet had been expunged from the text, and for him the reader had substituted a something of her own creation.
On the other hand, in the selections from the third act the reader was more natural, and hence vastly more effective, rising, as she did m some half a dozen passages, into the bold and electric passion of true elocution, and only failing with the ghost from lack of natural inflection in the monotone. The temperation, from Corneille, was also felicitously declaimed though it mus ling, melodious or graceful work ever emanated from the fertile brain of Auber. Its melodies form a oronet of vocal brilliants such as are rarely congregated together in a single opera, and its choruses evinced her judgment in selecting this opera for, her benefit, for, independent of its own intrinsic merits, it is admirably sung by her company. A better quartet could scarcely be found than that which comprises such a trained artist and excellent actress as Miss Richings, such a charming contraito as Mrs. E. Seguin, such a capable tenor as William Castle, and such a magnificent baritone as S. C. Campbell, who well deserves that title of the American Santley. In the florid aria of the second act, "Love at Once I Break Thy Fetters," to the music of Auber from the works of any English composer, yet the exquisite manner in which Castle sang "Oh, Whisper What Thou Feelest" would be a sufficient excuse for its interpolation in the opera. We must also speak in high terms of the iminitable acting of Henry Peakes in the comparatively small part of the Minister ot Police. The chorus is superior to what we generally hear in any kind of opera in this city. The only objection we could find in the rendering was in the orchestra and conductor. The former was too boisterous and unevenly balanced, and the leader took unwarrantable liberties with the tempi, especially in the overture. The scene in the first act should not represent an interior, or, at least, it is not as affective as by making it a mountain scene. "Fra Diavolo" at the matunée and "The Doctor of Alcantara" in the evening.

POLITICAL INTELLIGENCE.

One of the curiosities in the way of politics has just been developed in Perry county, Pa., at a meeting of farmers, neighbors, laborers and ex-soldiers, where Dr. R. A. Simpson, of Liverpool, Pa., was nominated "with intense enthusiasm" for Presiden of the United States, and R. D. Eldridge, of Baltimore, for Vice. The candidates are placed on what their supporters call the "Higher Law Platform," which one of the speakers explained as follows,-Our cause is the Lord wickedness will fall like the walls of Jericho, when they blew the seven trumpets of rams' horns."

A Clear, Smooth Skin and Beautiful Com-plexion follow the use of HELMBOLD'S CONCENTRATED EXTRACT ARSAPARILLA. It removes black spots, pim-ples, moth patches and all eruptions of the skin.

In the Spring and Summer Months the Sys-tem naturally undergoes a change, and HELMBOLD'S HIGHLY CONCENTRATED EXPRACT OF SARSAPARIL-LA is an assistant of the greatest value. Young Ladies, Beware of the Injurious Effects of Face Powders and Washes. All such remedies close up the pores of the skin, and in sahort time destroy the completion. If you would have a fresh, healthy and youthful appearance use HELMBOLD'S EXTRACT SARSAPARILLA.

Not a Few of the Worst Disorders Tent Af-fict mankind arise from corruption of the blood. RELE-BOLD'S EXTRACT SARSAPARELLA is a remedy of the street sale.

Helmbold's Extract Sarasparille Cleaness and renovates the blood, instils the vigor of health into the system and purges out the humors that make disease. Quantity vs. Quality.-Helmbold's Extract

Those Who Desire Brilliancy of Complexion must parify and enrich the blood, which HELMBOLD'S CONCENTRATED EXTRACT OF SARSAPARILLA invariably does. Ask for Helmbold's. Take no other.

ULCERATIVE DISEASES THROAT, NOSE, EYELIDS, SCALP which so distingure the appearance, purging the evil effects of mercury and removing all taints, the remnants of disease, hereditary or otherwise, and is taken by adults and children with perfect safety.

Two Tablespoonfuls of Helmbold's Extract OF SARSAPARILLA, added to a pint of water, are equal to the Lisbon Diet Drink, and one bottle is equal to a gainon of the Syrup of Sarsaparilla, or the decections as usually made.

An Interesting Letter Is Published in the Medico-Chirurgical Review on the subject of HEMBOLD'S EXTRACT OF SARSAPARILLA in certain affections, by Benjamin Travers, F. R. S., &c. Speaking of those diseases, and diseases arising from the excess of mercury, he states that no remedy is equal to the EXTRACT OF SARSAPARILLA; its power is extraordinary—more so than any other drug lam acquainted with. It is, in the strictest sense, a tonic with this invaluable attribute, that it is applicable to a state of the system so sunken and yet so irritable as renders any other substances of the tonic class unavailable or injurious.

Hembold's Concentrated Extract Buchu Is the great diuretic, HEMBOLD'S CONCENTRATED EX-TRACT SARSAPARHLA is the great blood puriner. Both are prepared according to rues of pharmacy and chemistry, and are the most active that can be made.

Decoctions are exceedingly roublescone, as it is necessary to prepare them every day, and the syrups are still more objectionable, as they are weaker than the decoctions; for fluids saturated with su, ar are susceptible of holding in solution much less attractive mater than water alone, and the syrups are otherwise objectionable, for the patient is frequently nameated and the atomach surfeited by the large proportion of sugar the patient is obliged to take with each dose—which is of no use whatever, except to keep the decection from apoling. Here the advantages and superiority of the Fluid Extracts are strikingly manifest.

The best test of their purity and superiority will be a comparison with the properties as set forth in the United States Dispensatory.
